Automobile Club of Wichita Year Book

Section 3, Pages 61 - 90

The Automobile Club of Wichita published this year book for the years 1909-1910. Its content reflects that automobile travel was a recent introduction to the lives of Kansans. It includes advertisements from automobile dealers, garages, and other businesses in Wichita, Hutchinson, Newton, Winfield, El Dorado, Dodge City, Yates Center, Iola, Independence, Topeka, Emporia, Garden City, and Lawrence. It also lists the officers and board of directors of the club, its constitution and bylaws, the Kansas law regulation the use of automobiles, two Wichita ordinances (#2875 and 3002) related to the use of cars, and rules of the road. The bulk of the yearbook provides driving routes to and from various cities and towns in Kansas, as well as Colorado and Oklahoma. An index to the routes and maps is on pages 22-23. These driving routes include specific directions and include references to many small towns and local landmarks, etc. The yearbook also lists Wichita residents that own automobiles, their license numbers and the type of automobile they own. The booklet concludes with a list of members of the automobile club.

WICHITA TO TOPEKA.

For road from WICHITA to EMPORIA see Route No. 7.

LETTER FROM TOPEKA.

"In regard to best road between Topeka and Emporia, will say that you leave Topeka on what is called the Burlingame road, going straight to Burlingame; from Burlingame to Osage City. From Osage City go due south about five miles, then west about same distance, following the main telephone, and then direct into Emporia. In other words, follow the main traveled road between these towns as there are no other smaller towns between the ones named. This road is first class as we have traveled over it a few times ourselves."

LETTER FROM EMPORIA.

"The general direction from Emporia to Topeka is east of north, going through Reading, Osage City and Burlingame. This follows the Bell telephone line to Burlingame except that a few miles this side of Osage City it jogs off east for a half mile or so, striking the pole lines again at Osage City. If the line is followed all the way you will come out all right, but not quite as well traveled a road. From Burlingame to Topeka take the middle, or ridge, road leaving Carbondale to the east and Auburn to the west. Sometimes they go by way of Auburn. It is a little farther and more stony than the ridge road. At Burlingame inquire at livery stable north of Santa Fe avenue for directions. You might inquire at Emporia for directions to Reading."

Route No. 16

The car, chosen to lay out the route from New York to Seattle will follow the route from Denver here named.

DENVER, CHEYENNE, LARAMIE, POCATELLO, BOISE and WALLA WALLA to SEATTLE.

The following is a letter from Laramie, Wyoming, concerning route from DENVER to SALT LAKE:

"The route between Denver and Salt Lake is by way of Denver, Platteville, Brighton, Aut, Greeley, Pierce, Eaton, Carr, Cheyenne, Granite, Canon, Buford, Dale Creek, Tie Siding and Laramie (distance 170 miles); or Denver, Lafayette, Loveland, Ft. Collins, Fork's Hotel, Tie Siding and Laramie (distance 140 miles). This latter route is the most popular one, and I believe to be far preferable, the roads after June 15th being in the best of condition. The route from Laramie westward including Rock River, Hanna, Medicine Bow, Fort Steele and Rawlins (distance 140 miles); Rawlins, Wamsutter, Bitter Creek, Point of Rocks to Rock Springs (distance 145 miles); Rock Springs to Green River (15 miles); Green River to Evanston (90 miles); Evanston, Ogden, Salt Lake (85 miles).

"While there are some poor stretches of roads to be found at intervals along the route, we feel that the road from Collins to Laramie is particularly good. We would also state that the counties along the transcontinental route in Wyoming, over which you would travel, have made large appropriations for the improvements on roads, and are also improving the road from this point to the National Park."

The following is from Cheyenne, Wyoming:

"The best road between Denver, Colorado, and Salt Lake City, would be to follow the Union Pacific R. R. Leaving Denver the principal cities passed through are, Greeley, Colorado; Cheyenne, Wyoming; Laramie, Wyoming; Rawlins, Wyoming; Evanston, Wyoming, and then to Ogden, Utah. Although there may be a road cutting across country as to go around by Ogden would be out of the way. The wagon road is very good along the railroad later in the season.
