

Third semi-annual circular, Topeka Typographical Union No. 121

This Topeka Typographical Union report was submitted in 1871 by recording secretary L.H. Hascal. John Maloy was listed as president. The Typographical Union was chartered in Topeka in 1869. The report discusses continuing concerns related to a recent strike of the union printers and lists the names of "rats" who continued employment following the strike.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

As some discussion, and perhaps ill-feeling, has been engendered in certain quarters by the "whitewashing" of the news room of the Record office in November last, we will state that every effort, consistent with the knowledge possessed by our Union at that time, was made to obtain the sense of those Unions most interested, before any decided step was taken by us, and especially of the St. Louis Union, from whence most of these men came. All who were initiated at that time, when ordered by the Union soon after to strike, did so and left the city, and have since, so far as we have any knowledge, pursued an honorable and straightforward course.

That office is now employing the following named rats: Wm. G. SOUTHER, SIDNEY P. BENNETT, H. C. PRICE, WM. WATERS, E. F. CAMPBELL, W. W. BECK, D. G. MILLISON and HARRY HYDE.

To those Unions which have so nobly and earnestly stepped forward with tenders of aid (especially Lawrence, Kan., Union, No. 73, and Kansas City, Mo., Union, No. 80), we feel a debt of gratitude which can only be forgotten when the "clouds of the valley" shall cover us. If they ever need like assistance, may it be obtained as freely as they have shown a willingness to extend it.

Business is good, but there is no demand for more workmen than are now in the city.

Yours, Fraternally,

L. H. HASCALL,
Rec. and Cor. Secretary.
