Eugene Ware correspondence

Section 33, Pages 961 - 990

This is a series of correspondence to and from Eugene Fitch Ware (1841-1911). Ware moved to Fort Scott, Kansas, after the Civil War and became employed at the Fort Scott Monitor. In 1879, Ware began the first of three terms in the Kansas State Senate. During his terms of office, Ware introduced bills concerning railroads, life insurance, militia, and relief and support of the poor as well as bills of a more local nature. Ware moved to Topeka in 1893 to become a partner with Charles Gleed and his brother, James, forming the law firm of Gleed, Ware and Gleed. In addition to journalism, law, and politics, Ware used the pseudonym, Ironquill, for his literary and poetic achievements. His works include "Neutralia" and "The Rhymes of Ironquill". For a complete contents list of the papers of Eugene Fitch Ware, see the External Links below.

Brenton fine tomorrow. I have been in front of the speakers desk probably every morning for the last of ten days writing for recognition. Mr. Carlyle has promised to let me in before any adjourn, and he said to Mr. Perkins yesterday that he would recognize me this morning and I felt very confident of getting in had not the regular order been called. I do not think Mr. Carlyle has been fair with us this session for he has let in almost double as many democrats as republicans.
I do not believe any will pass before Thursday morn - I will use faithfully to get in at the last.

I am Your

Dear Sir,

We hope you have not forgotten us on that campaign business. We are in splendid shape but we want to hold about eight meetings in this county before election; four next week and four the week after. Gov. Martin and Senator Plumb speak here next Monday night which will leave but three more for that week. For the week following we shall try to get some speakers from the state central committee. Can you speak for us any of the three last nights of next week. We would like to have two if you can spare the time but will be satisfied with what we can get.

An immediate answer will be appreciated by yours truly

Dear Ware:

Have just returned from ten days in New Mex., going to Silver City. My wife had made a visit there.

Will attend to the books to-night, & have $25 worth sent to you. I want Albert Walborn to see it.

I know you would like it - we have so much in common - like similar things.

State Printer things took well. Stir up the fellows to vote right.

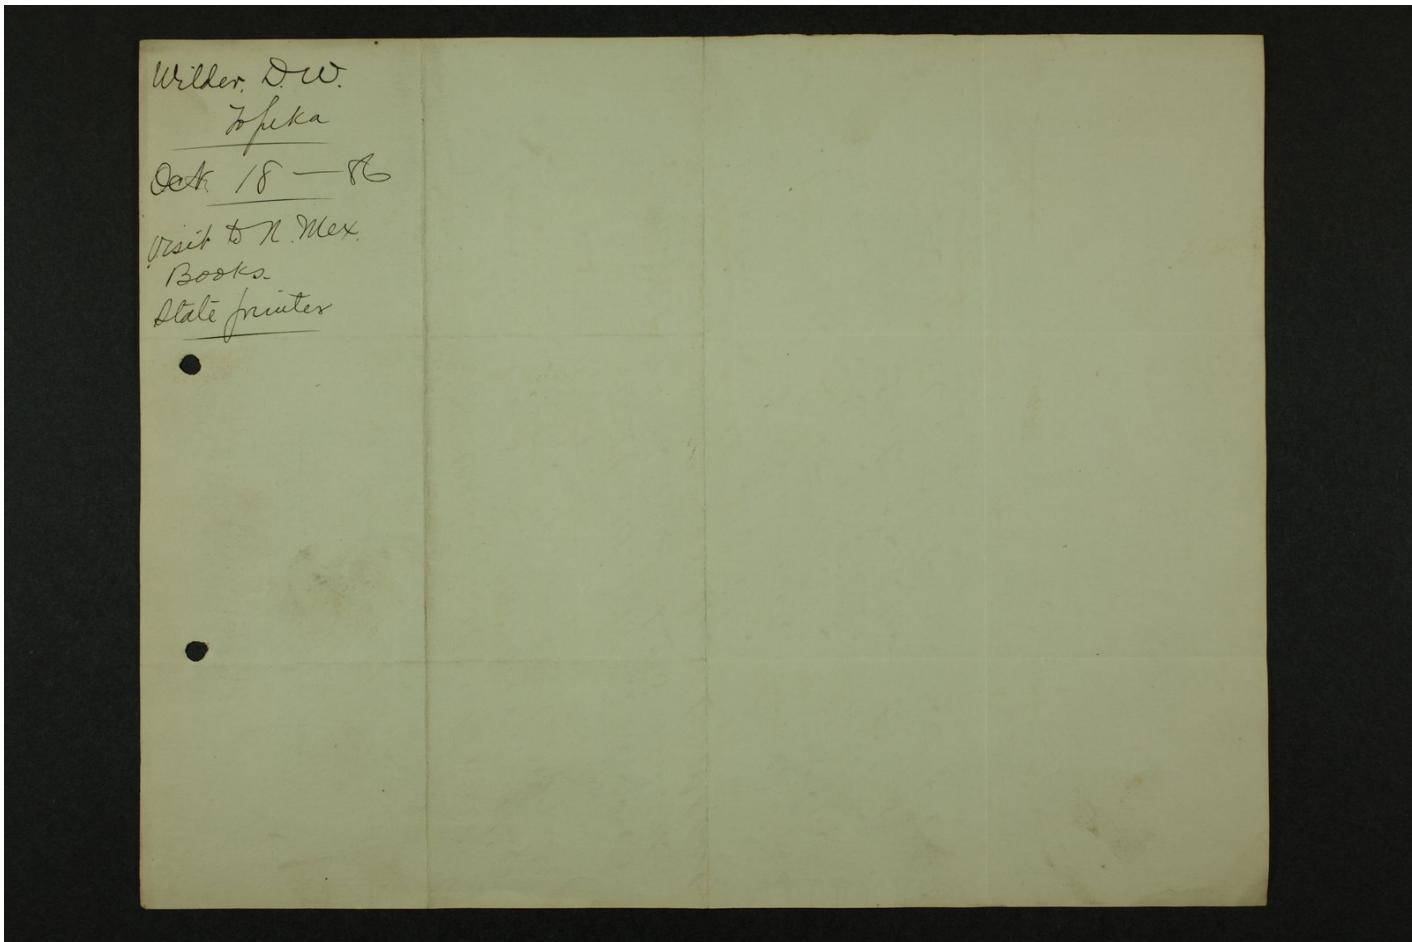

As ever,
